

29% of US households consist of only one person

